The Laurel staff returned this because they felt it did not follow the pattern for period order names, saying “While it follows the general meta-pattern of heraldic charge it does not follow the more specific pattern [color] + [heraldic charge]. Ferro (iron) is not a heraldic tincture; it is a material.”

Rachel Wallace. Badge. (Fieldless) A sword surmounted by a tower sable. The Laurel staff returned this badge because they felt it was insufficiently identifiable, saying “The area of overlap between the tower and the sword is too large, especially given that there is no contrast between the charges.”

Your servant,

Alisoun
